and enrollment

Theme : Here I am , send me! (Isa 6:8)

On this Mission Sunday, inspired by Seraphim, a sort of angel, presenting in Isa 6, PMS Taiwan invites children to come and know who the guardian angel is and to whom they could pray . The most important message to deliver for PMS,Taiwan is that each child is sent by God and responsible for praying for others especially who are suffering of covid-19 worldwide.

我在這裡，請派遣我！
(依撒意亞 6:8)

Activity Schedule

Children-Friendly Mass

The Mass was held at Sacred Heart Church in Taipei Archdiocese. Indicated in the picture, the priest, Fr. Joseph Ngoc Thang BUI, is the pastor of this church. Because there were about 400 attendees joining, people needed to seat tightly and even on the ground, and of course, wearing Mask is requested.

Showing the strictness of Covid-19 pandemic with the slides by Fr. Khohi

The whole world has been extremely influenced by this epidemic disease. Some people lost their beloved, some couldn't go to school to learn, and some became jobless. Though we are not able to approach people who are suffered around the world now, by prayer we could still reach them out and give them comfort.

Who is the guardian angel?

Inspired by Seraphim, the PMS, Taiwan invited the children to learn about who the guardian angel is, what role these angels could perform in their life, and how to pray to these angels according to the Church's teaching. The attendees were divided in groups by age, so that they could understand better based on different levels. To sum up, children were encouraged to pray not only for themselves but also for others by relying on the intercession of their personal guardian angels.

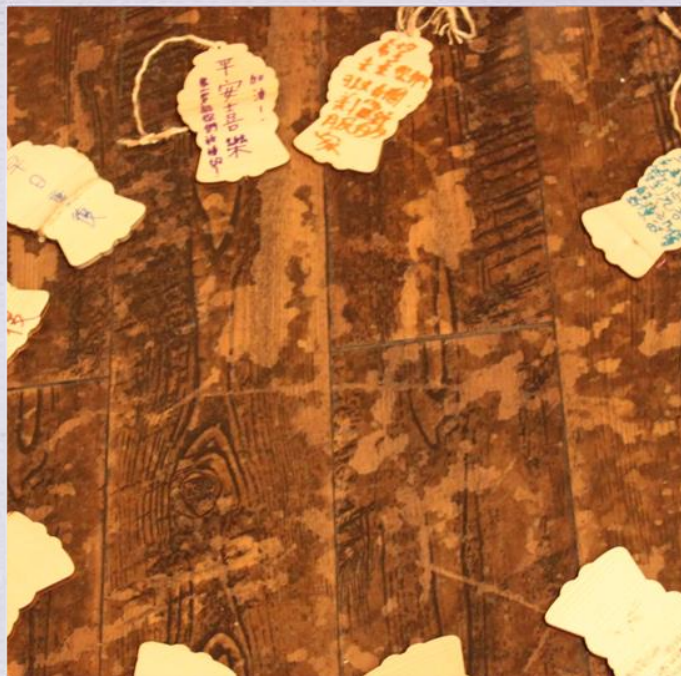

DIY on coloring and making personal prayer

After that short lesson, children had a task of coloring their own wood-made material which is in the image of an angel holding the Earth.

On the other hand, the teachers also guided them to write down their personal prayer for people who are suffering around the world.

Time for sharing

“Blue is my favorite color, and it means peace for me, therefore I pray for world peace by the intercession of my angel!”

Gifts distributing

PMS, Taiwan also prepared some gifts for the attendees. That is the pouch with the Church's official prayer of the guardian angel in Chinese on one side and in English on the other side. By carrying this, they could get acquainted and familiar with their personal guardian angel in daily life.

Happy ending by taking a wonderful shot!
